CURRENT AFFAIRS PROGRAMME

Current Affairs COMPASS

Current affairs, without the chaos

You read current affairs every day and still cannot recall it a month later. Nothing gets revised, nothing gets tested, and the reading quietly stops counting. The gap was never the material. It was the routine.

TEN COMPONENTS · FOUR RHYTHMS

One routine that closes

WHY THIS EXISTS

You do not need another source. You need a routine that closes.

Six complaints come up in almost every conversation. They are not six problems; each is a different stage of the same routine going missing.

I read the newspaper but forget everything.	Two-pager, daily quiz, weekly MCQs	DAILY
I cannot tell what is for Prelims and what is for Mains.	Snippets, filtered at source	DAILY
My monthly magazines keep piling up unread.	Consolidation and summaries	MONTHLY
I read current affairs but cannot use it in Mains answers.	Workbook and Mains flashcards	MONTHLY
I do not know whether I am actually prepared.	Knockout tests	YEARLY
Before Prelims I have hundreds of pages left to revise.	365+ summaries	YEARLY

WHAT MAKES IT DIFFERENT

Three hours in, ten minutes out

The two-pager is hand-written and filtered by a team that reads twenty to thirty sources for about three hours every morning.

The real article, not a summary

Snippets are original cut-outs from The Hindu, Indian Express and PIB, pre-highlighted down to the lines that matter. The finding-what-matters is already done.

Prelims and Mains split at source

Facts for Prelims are separated from material for Mains before it reaches you, so you are never sorting it yourself.

Progress you can see

The workbook has space to write in, which means your progress is visible on the page instead of assumed in your head.

Every part connects to the next

One topic travels from the newspaper to the two-pager to the workbook to a test question. Nothing sits on its own.

THE COMPASS

Four rhythms, running at four different speeds.

Daily keeps you current. Weekly tells you what actually stayed. Monthly keeps you organised. Yearly makes everything smaller before the exam.

The point of four speeds is that they cover for each other. Miss a day and the week catches it. Miss a month and the summaries catch it. A routine that only works when you never slip is not a routine, it is a plan you will abandon in March.

THE DAILY HOUR, BROKEN DOWN

TEN MINUTES

The two-pager. Two hand-written pages: four current affairs topics and two CA-static topics, with PYQs marked and the key lines already highlighted.

UP TO FORTY FIVE MINUTES

The snippets. Three newspapers, cut and pre-highlighted, in the time most aspirants spend on one.

THE REST OF THE DAY

Nothing. The quiz closes the day. Everything weekly, monthly and yearly sits outside this hour.

WHAT IS INSIDE

Ten components, grouped by how often you touch them.

The time against each one is what it actually costs you. The daily band adds up to about an hour; the rest is weekly, monthly or once a year.

DAILY — ABOUT ONE HOUR

01 Current Affairs Made Easy, two-pager notes — 10 MIN

Two hand-written pages daily. Four current affairs topics plus two CA-static topics, roughly 180 topics a month. PYQs marked, key lines pre-highlighted.

02 Newspaper snippets — 45 MIN

Original cut-outs from The Hindu, Indian Express and PIB, already highlighted. Three newspapers covered in the time most aspirants spend on one.

03 Daily quiz — SAME DAY

Close the day by answering rather than rereading.

WEEKLY — ONE ROUND

04 Revision MCQs — EVERY WEEK

Fifteen or more questions covering the week, around sixty a month. Spaced far enough from the reading that you find out what genuinely stayed rather than what you read yesterday.

MONTHLY — ONE SITTING

05 Monthly magazine — ONCE A MONTH

The whole month in one file, arranged to be re-read rather than reconstructed from thirty separate PDFs.

06 Workbook — WITH THE MAGAZINE

Prelims and Mains questions from the same month, with space to write your answers, a marking grid, a place to record your time, and full solutions.

07 Mains flashcards — FOR MAINS

The month compressed into cards revisable in about sixty seconds each, carrying fresh examples so your answer does not read like the two hundred others the examiner has already marked.

YEARLY — LAST STRETCH

08 PT 365+ and Mains 365+ summaries — BEFORE THE EXAM

Half the pages with no topic dropped, built by interview-appeared and Mains-appeared rankers. Static linkages, data, reports, committees and judgements integrated, plus probable questions and PYQs marked. Also the catch-up route for months you missed.

09 Mnemonic-based revision videos — AROUND PRELIMS

For the schemes, sequences and lookalike numbers that refuse to stick by reading.

10 Current Affairs Knockout test series — NEAR PRELIMS

Three hundred high-probability current affairs questions across three papers, taken under time.

WHAT LANDS IN YOUR HANDS

Five of the ten components are things you hold and write on.

Mains 365+

Topic tables, key words and committees, built for writing rather than reading.

The other five components are the daily quiz, the weekly MCQs, the Mains flashcards, the mnemonic videos and the Knockout papers. All ten are on page 5.

PROOF, NOT PROMISES

We do not guarantee marks. We publish evidence and let you judge it.

After Prelims 2026 we went through the paper and matched it back to what we had already given students, module by module. These are the numbers from that exercise.

2026 HITS · COMPONENT BY COMPONENT

17

+8

Two-pager notes

Seventeen fully solvable and eight partially solvable questions, from 273 pages of notes covering a full year.

19+

Newspaper snippets

Nineteen or more Prelims hits, and a further 22 questions that came up in Mains.

10

CA Knockout series

Ten of the three hundred Knockout questions came back in the Prelims paper itself.

We published this question by question, in public, rather than as a headline number on a poster. When any institute quotes you a hit count, ask them to prove it the same way.

WHAT THE COMPONENTS HAVE ALREADY DONE

Two-pager notes	One year of current affairs in 273 pages, against roughly 2,000 pages of magazines. For Prelims 2027 the coverage has been widened to a year and a half.
Newspaper snippets and flashcards	Used by AIR 18, AIR 47 and AIR 104. Twenty rankers are using it this year; thirteen toppers used it last year.
365+ summaries	Used by more than twenty rankers, including Sruthii R (AIR 18), Aryan Singh (AIR 104) and Kiruthika M R (AIR 184). Across two years, over a hundred rankers and fifty toppers.

Read this before you buy

It sounds easy, an hour a day, and that is exactly why most people do not do it. None of this removes the need to sit down. You can hold every file we send and still not open the workbook in March. The material is filtered, the routine is built and the tests are ready. Turning up is the part we cannot do for you.
